

FIELD STUDIES

Using the Jurassic World Heritage coastline to

MAKE THE TEXTBOOK COME TO LIFE

Our Field Study courses are based on the classic fieldwork sites around Swanage, within Purbeck and the Jurassic Dorset Coast including Lulworth Cove, Durdle Door and Kimmeridge. With a full demand for these by our regular partner schools, we are now developing courses on the Isle of Wight too. Our method of teaching encourages students to think for themselves and provides opportunities to practice fieldwork and data collection techniques. The underlying success of all our courses is the sense of realism, excitement and an experience which can never be generated by textbooks alone. In addition we can include related outdoor activities such as climbing and abseiling or night navigation to add motivation and fun.

PROGRAMME CHOICES

Each programme type fits its own set of objectives and has its own style of teaching. Once the programme has been selected we work with you to input the module choices.
